PINKHAM CURES

Added to the Long List due to This Famous Remedy.

Camden, N.J.--"It is with pleasure that I add my testimonial to your already long list--hoping that it may induce others to avail themselves of this valuable medicine. I suffered from terrible headaches, pain in my back and right side, was tired and nervous, and so weak I could hardly stand. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored me to health and made me feel like a new person, and it still allows me my praise."

Mrs. W. F. VALENTINE, 902 Lincoln Avenue, Camden, N.J.

Gardiner, Me.--"I was a great sufferer from a female disease. The doctor said I would have to go to the hospital for an operation, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured me in three months."

Mrs. S. A. WILLIAMS, R. F. D. No. 14, Box 30, Gardiner, Me.

Because your case is a difficult one, doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer with your ailment. Give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has cured many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, indigestion, dizziness, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result is worth millions to many suffering women.

MORE DISTILLERS MAY BE CAUGHT

Internal Revenue Agents Not After Fruit Brandy Violators in These Parts.

New Haven, Nov. 18.--Special Internal Revenue Agents Ahorne and Levy of New York who have just completed the raiding of the distillery of Solomon Blaustein and Edward Miskind of Stamford, are still in this city. They are acting under instructions from the internal revenue department, to follow up the illicit manufacturers of fruit brandies, and pending the trial of the two prisoners now held in the United States court here next week Saturday, they will cast a glance about this territory where it is alleged that some of this brandy is being distilled in this way.

These agents were detailed from New York a few weeks ago to detect violations of the law governing the distillation of fruit brandies. There is good profit on this class of goods, as it comes from the distillery is based on a 25 proof that does not bring backache, and the market naturally as a distillation carrying a much higher proof. To make their goods worth more in the market, consequently, it is claimed the State distillers were adding sugar to the fruit product, which, very cheaply for them, but in direct violation of the internal revenue law, lifted the proof up to 75, and the liquor, a white, tasteless substance, was being sold by them to the rectifiers at that figure, and the government was being defrauded of the difference between 25 proof and 75 proof in collecting its taxes on the transaction.

This alleged swindle is said to be going on in this State, and in fact in this city, largely. In fact this is one reason why the special revenue men are remaining here.

The trick employed by these illicit distillers is to use a base of dried raisins, to produce 25 proof, regardless of any other fruit, and then to put common sugar into the distilling proposition so as to bring the proof quickly up to 75 per cent, or to a point where it would be a large profit and thus defraud the revenue.

In the Blaustein case the revenue men have the exhibits of the sugar used both in the raisins and before it was used. The penalty may be a fine or imprisonment, or both.

NOT ENOUGH BABIES

Declaring himself to be a believer with Theodore Roosevelt that "race suicide" is to be regretted, Gov. Fort of New Jersey, addressing the fifty-first annual convention of the Jersey Sunday School Association, in the Munn Avenue Presbyterian church, last Sunday afternoon, ventured an opinion as to the reason the Sunday schools are not as largely attended as they used to be.

"I am not sure," said the Governor, "whether it is that we are sending the children to Sunday school or that we do not have the children in our homes to send."

Do think, though, that the latter is true? Do you think we consider ourselves the best in their community in our time. I think with our former President that this is to be regretted, and yet I am not going to argue it."

Then he added: "Something, either golf or automobiles, perhaps, makes us neglect the influence of the church on Sunday."

State Grand Juries of Workmen in Fight

In the New Haven superior court yesterday before Justice Curtis the case of the Grand jury of the A. O. U. W. of Connecticut, and the Grand jury of the same order of Massachusetts went on trial. This is a dispute over taxes claimed by the Connecticut Grand jury, which once was a part of the Massachusetts lodge, but in 1901 separated from the Massachusetts lodge, forming a separate Grand lodge of the state of Connecticut, and now claims that the Massachusetts lodge is retaining some funds which the Connecticut Grand lodge is entitled to. Several of the grand officers among them John Currier Gallagher, who founded the Connecticut Grand lodge, testified yesterday. Some settlement has already been made, but it is claimed by plaintiffs that still $4,000 are due.

NAMED UNDERTAKER IN WILL.

Among the provisions of the will of the late Isabelle Carpenter were stipulations that the funeral services be under the direction of George B. Hawley, of the firm of Hawley, Wilcox & Reynolds, and that Charles Hughes, the monument dealer, provide a monument. The probate court yesterday appointed W. S. Wilson to act as administrator. Mr. Hawley declining to accept the post of executor of the will. The estate was valued at $2,000, of which all but $200 goes to a sister, in Ohio. The one bequest is to Mountain Grove Cemetery association.

LABOR FEDERATION STANDS BY BOYCOTT

John Mitchell Upholds Strong Resolutions Adopted by Convention, Urging Its Use When Other Means Fail.

Toronto, Nov. 18.--Indorsing a report of the committee on Boycott, John Mitchell, one of the three officers of the American Federation of Labor under sentence for contempt of court, in a dramatic speech to the convention of that organization at the close of its session yesterday, declared that as far as he was concerned, regardless of consequences he intended, while at liberty, to declare for the rights guaranteed him by the organic laws of his country. The report which drew forth Mitchell's speech and which was adopted by the convention, said:

"We say that when your cause is just and every other remedy has been employed without result, boycott, we say that when the employer has determined to exploit not only adult male labor, but our women and children, and our reasoning and appeal to his fairness and his conscience will not sway him, boycott; we say that when labor has been oppressed, browbeaten, and trampled, boycott; we say that when social and political conditions become so bad that ordinary remedial measures are fruitless, boycott; and finally, we say we have a right to boycott and we propose to exercise that right. In the application of this right of boycott, to paraphrase the President, (Gompers), we propose to strive on and on."

"I want the people of the United States to know my position," said Mr. Mitchell. "I shall not speak to you, but be the consequences what they will, I shall not surrender my right guaranteed to me by the Constitution of our country. I am not sure how much mental and physical suffering will be necessary to make me submit, but if I know myself, not any amount of suffering will persuade me that I have not the right to write and speak as I please, being responsible under the law for my acts."

"I understand that recognition is being taken at Washington of the utterance of men on the floor of this convention and I want clearly to state my position. I propose in the future, as I have in the past, to exercise the rights secured to me by the fathers of my country, and I propose if I am sent to jail to declare again when I come out that I shall not for myself purchase any product of the Bucks Stove and Range Co. I make this declaration not to tickle the ear of any man, but that I may publicly declare the conviction that is within me."

The convention broke into loud cheers for Mitchell when he had concluded, and there were cries of "More!" but the secretary did not respond. President Gompers was not present.

Judge Platt Decides Duty for Olive Oil

New York, Nov. 18.--Judge James P. Platt in the United States Circuit Court denies that large importations of olive oil are entitled to entry free of duty as not being edible. Several heavy importers of the olive oil, not satisfied with the ruling of the Board of United States General Appraisers, appealed the issue to the Circuit Court. The court says that after reading the testimony of the witnesses for the importers it is unwilling to reverse the finding of the board. Judge Platt says in part:

"The question of fact in this case is simply and solely whether the olive oils covered herein are fit or suitable for manufacturing purposes and for no other as contended by the importers. The board upon conflicting testimony has found that they were all edible oils."

"I do not think that the testimony so plainly points in the direction that I am at liberty to decide the question of fact the other way even if I felt like doing so. After reading the testimony of Dr. Sherris and Dr. Fuller, witnesses for the importers, I am unwilling to say that I should do so if I could. Decision affirmed."

The importers figuring in this litigation include the Holbrook Manufacturing Company, the Swan & Finch Company, the Oil Seeds Company, A. Klipstein Company, Welsh, Holm & Clark Company, and Arnold, Hoffman & Co.
